

First Principals Storyboard

1. First Principals is a non-profit organization founded by former educators and entrepreneurs that provides pro bono executive leadership coaching to school principals. We recruit experienced professionals, train them as executive coaches, and connect them to change-oriented principals. We believe that we can transform public schools by improving the capacity of school-level leadership.
2. Here is the pain we are addressing:
 - a. Public schools are failing.
 - b. Principals are an important lever.
 - c. Research demonstrates that principal effectiveness is critical for student achievement.
 - d. But Principals have an incredibly tough job (story here).
 - e. They receive little managerial support and leadership development.
3. Here is what we do.
4. Examples of important problems principals face where executive coaching and managerial experience can be enormously beneficial and don't need education experience.
5. Vast majority of competition focuses on different approach to principal development; there are only a few programs other places that are similar, but they are small and not focused on the management aspects of school leadership.
6. All evidence suggests that coaching works. Our methodology is based on significant research.
7. First Principals stands out in 4 key areas.
8. Important stakeholders and experts believe it will work.
9. We have 15 principals on board for the beta program, and here's why they're doing it.
10. We have 15 pro-bono partners ready for the beta and here is here's why they want to do it.
11. We have a great, dedicated team.
12. We have advisors with deep expertise in education, business and leadership training.
13. We have built measurement systems to credibly evaluate our performance within schools.
14. We have also developed a feedback loop and knowledge management system so that the program will evolve and improve over time.
15. We will start with trial of 15 schools funded by philanthropy. It will cost X and we will seek the money from education focused foundations and philanthropists. There is lots of capacity and interest.
16. In year 2 we will begin a full-scale pilot study, which will require two years. We will need $y; we will rely on mix of philanthropy and fees-for-services. We will work with our initial investors to figure out the best mix.
17. At scale here is our unit cost structure and revenue model.
18. We can add X schools and Y volunteers each year, so that in 20xx we will be in Z% of the CPS schools. Before 20xx, we will start to expand to other cities with structure X and a similar funding model with local philanthropy first.
19. This is a reasonable growth path because Organization X did the following.
20. We are asking for X to fund the first year trial. With this investment and a similar amount in round 2, we will build a sustainable organization with the capacity to transform every school in Chicago and take our model to urban school districts throughout the country.
21. Vision of schools with empowered high-performing principals, less reliance on teacher and student evaluation based on test results. School with motivated, high-quality teachers working together.
